Versatility and pure stylish design. Straight lines smoothened with soft curves. The principle of Nero's design is a look of single block shell shaping at the same time the seat back and armrests, able to be mounted in different bases, all of them with their own identity but with the common element of the same shell properly upholstered to offer a perfect comfort.

Familiar, but surprisingly modern product range Nero is especially good with its separate back that brings the comfort. Forward inclining armrests makes the product a great choice for daily office usage. The curves of the back and the angle between the arms and the back, resume the light design and ergonomomy.
